THE FALCON '80

Cover by BARBARA FERNALD

DEDICATION 1980

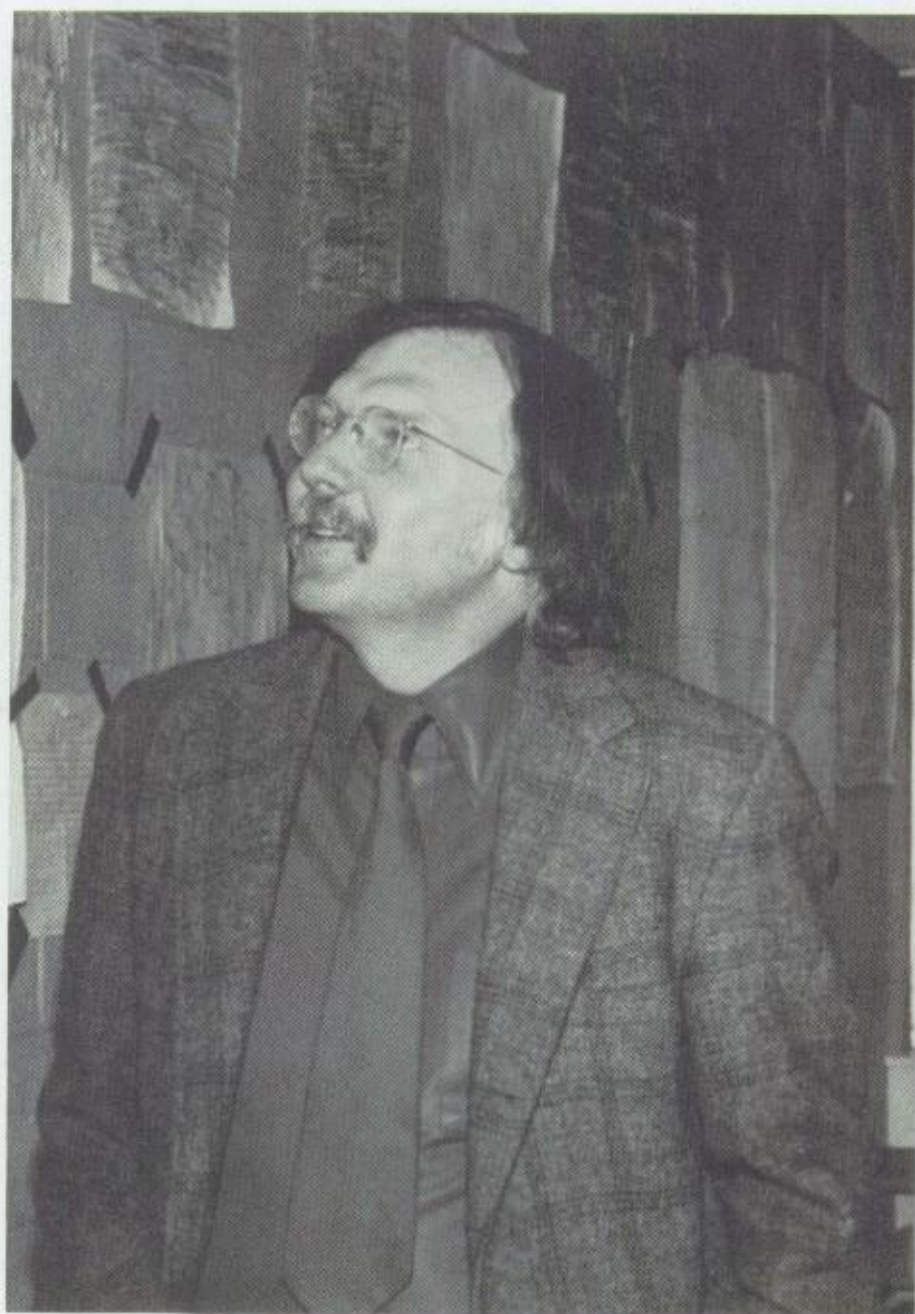

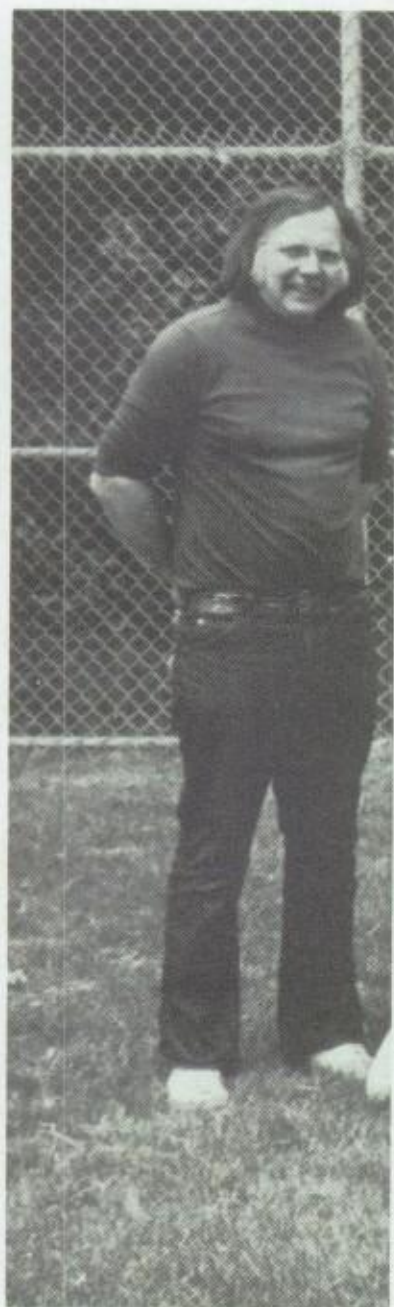

NORMAN L. BUTTRICK

The 1980 Falcon, Freeport High School's yearbook, is dedicated to you, Norman L. Buttrick, who dedicate yourself and your time to us, the students of Freeport High School. You not only devote time to your classes; you also act as advisor for the Ski Club and coach for the JV Baseball Team. You have become our favorite "archaeologist" and we really "dig" you!

Thanks from all of us for your time and effort in the past and a wish for a trip to Russia for you in the future.

Lincoln ousts Freeport

NEWCASTLE — Tom Burnham scored twice as Lincoln Academy broke a four year hex and moved into the semi-finals in Class B West with a 2-0 win over defending state champion Freeport Saturday.

Lincoln Academy improved its record to 11-4-1, while Freeport, state champ the last three years, dropped out of state championship action with a 5-10 record.

After a first period in which most of the action was played at mid-field, Burnham took a cross from right wing Jeff Pierce and beat Freeport goalie Randy Thompson at the 12:02 mark.

The goal sparked the Eagles who carried the play in the next two periods. With center halfback Fred Hatch and right halfback Rick Brewer controlling play in the midfield area, Burnham again was set up well.

Left Wing Robbie Leavitt collected the ball from a midfielder and crossed a pass in front to Burnham who beat Thompson again at the 17 minute mark of the third period.

The insurance goal was well timed since Freeport went all out in the final period. But Lincoln Academy goalie Paul Rich was equal to the test making eight saves during the game. He had great assistance from fullbacks John Schumacher and Dean Burnham.

Lincoln Academy outshot Freeport 23-16. Thompson was credited with 16 saves during the contest.

Coach Jeff Bradbury said, "It was a great effort by our starters and also the players who came off the bench and did such an excellent job."

A Super Coach . . . Who Will Be Missed

FREEPORT — The man who guided Freeport High School to three state Class B soccer championships in his six-year coaching stint has resigned the post.

Steve York, who will continue to teach at Freeport High School, submitted his resignation before the Western Maine Class C Tournament in which Freeport was eliminated by Lincoln Academy. York said, "When I first started coaching, I had the kids playing 16 or 17 games in the summer. My feeling is that if I couldn't put in the time I'd rather not do it — I feel the kids deserve more than that."

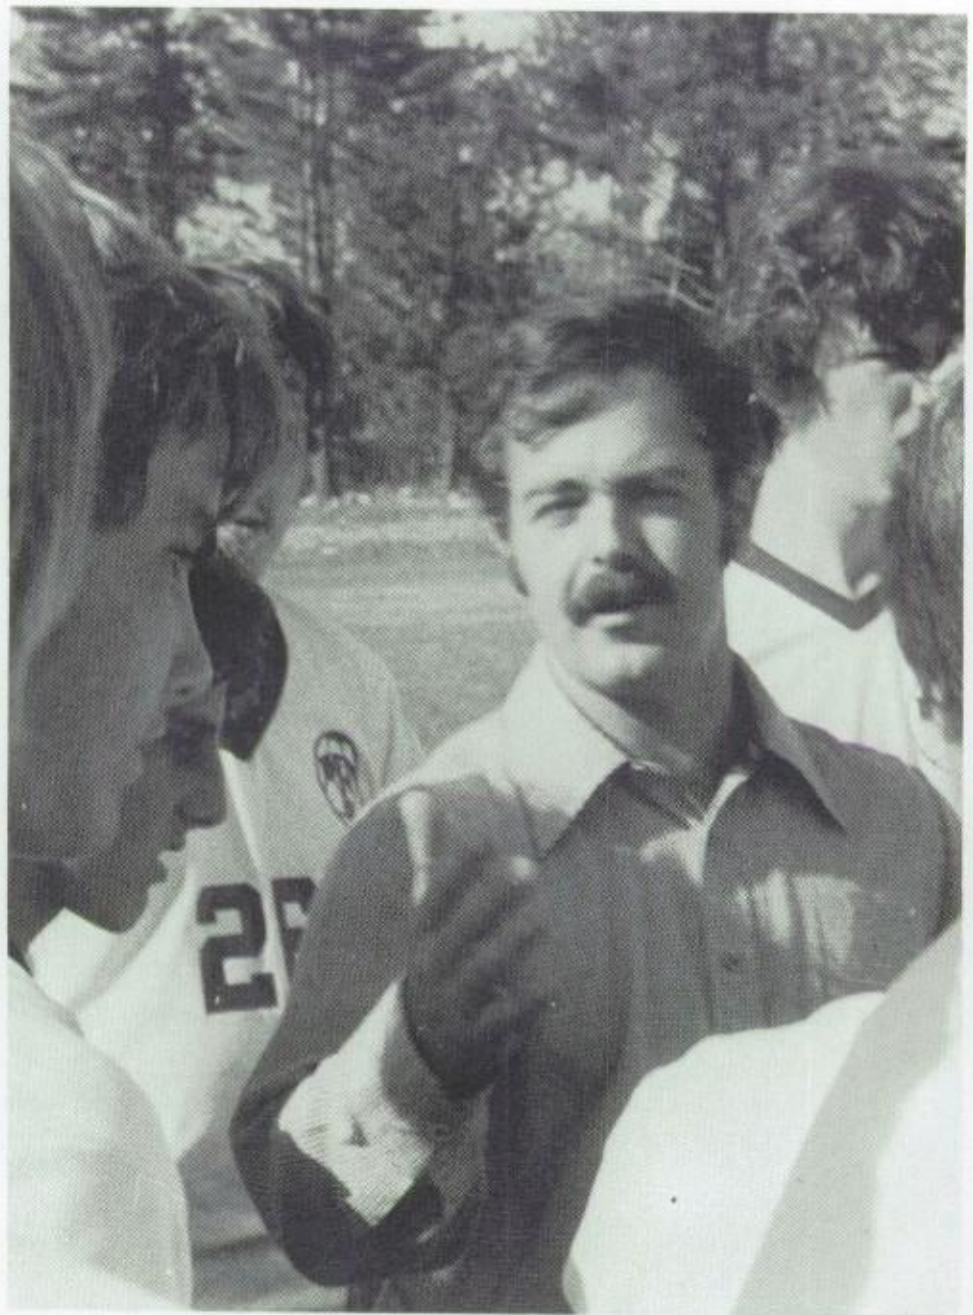

York, who supplements his income by clam digging in the summer months, added that it was increasingly difficult to work during the day and then be able to put in the needed practice time following work. In addition, the highly successful mentor and his wife Bette are parents of three children — the latest born during the past soccer season — and York hasn't had much time left to spend with them recently.

Although York has had many soccer thrills while coaching Freeport, his biggest thrill, surprisingly, isn't one of his three state title victories. "I would say almost any team I've ever had . . . the biggest thrill is that we weren't out of probably five games in six years. I enjoyed that — we were tough."

Of the title runs, York found the win over Gray-New Gloucester in the 1976 Western Maine playoffs a top thrill. He said, "We came into the game ranked fourth — it seems like we were always fourth — and they were number one. We got three goals in the last couple of minutes to win."

York said he wanted to keep his resignation "low key" and wasn't really sure he could keep out of the sport he enjoys so much. He'll continue to coach girls basketball for the present time, but the big test is going to come when he sees that soccer ball booted downfield for the first time next fall.

Can You Really Do It, Coach?
